"Will take the Carriage at Station."

The telephone is the connecting link between city and country.

It is of mutual advantage. With telephone service in his suburban home the business man in the city, or wherever he may be, can keep in touch with his household. A friend for dinner, time of arrival, any unusual delay—these, and countless other messages the telephone carries almost instantly thereby relieving the worry of the family and simplifying household arrangements. Every suburban home should have a telephone.
